This will be held via Zoom and consist of hosts, panelists, and participants. At the beginning, GOAABA/CFAWL members will make opening remarks, highlighting the objective behind the panel discussions. The objective is to focus on a skill set to equip participants with the skills to overcome issues that effect minority groups. The workshop will focus on about 3 chapters or lessons from the book, with the author. For example, GOAABA and CFAWL will select a couple of chapters or lessons to focus a discussion on (These chapters are pending based on speaker availability). Attendees will receive a copy of the book or chapter (logistics pending). The author will be a guest and start a discussion of the chapter or lesson. There will be a discussion regarding the skill set that was acquired that helped overcome the issue. The discussion will follow up with Q&A.
